Robinson Farm & Homestead Farms

2 local farms partner with the Boston warehouse weekly to divert organic waste from landfills to animal feed.

Sustainability at Sysco

At Sysco, we deliver daily on our commitment to conduct business responsibly and sustainably, recognizing how practices that provide our customers with the best quality, nutrition and service at the lowest total cost can also benefit the environment, promote economic fairness and serve society. As the largest North American distributor of food and related products, we have significant opportunities to affect change.

Sysco is committed to supporting the communities we serve through corporate giving, associate volunteer efforts and fundraising partnerships.

Looking for community engagements that impact the food service industry, we focus our time, energy and financial contributions on hunger relief, education and development, agricultural and environmental sustainability and health and community outreach. In FY2014, we supported nonprofits working in these areas with $8.3 million in cash and in-kind donations, and Sysco associates contributed countless hours of volunteer time.

Food Recovery and Community Impact

Our Commitment to Food Recovery

At Sysco Boston, our food recovery initiatives enables us to focus on two critically important issues: Hunger Relief and Agricultural and Environmental Sustainability. We are committed to a holistic approach to keeping food out of the landfill. We donate excess wholesome food to hunger relief organizations in our community, and divert organic waste to local farms for animal feed. By leveraging leading technology from Spoiler Alert, we are able to use data to monitor our programs and continuously improve both our internal operations and community efforts.

Hunger Relief

Hunger relief is a natural focus area for Sysco, given our ability to safely supply healthy and nutritious food. We prioritize programs and activities aimed at eliminating childhood hunger and encouraging good nutrition in lower-income families.

Agricultural and Environmental Sustainability

A secure, healthy and productive food chain ensures that our products are of the highest quality and meet our customers' needs. We aim to protect and preserve our shared resources and support our suppliers. This includes supporting causes that protect the environment, foster responsible agricultural development, encourage the consumption of locally grown produce and promote cooperative farming.
